Handwritten text in Khmer script, likely a manuscript or record. The text is arranged in several lines and columns, with some characters appearing to be in a different script or dialect. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper. The script is dense and fills most of the page. There are some larger characters that might be titles or section markers. The overall appearance is that of an old, handwritten document.

Handwritten Burmese text on a palm leaf manuscript. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines, written from right to left. The script is a traditional Burmese style. The leaf shows signs of age, including some dark spots and wear. The text appears to be a list or a series of entries, possibly related to a calendar or a record of events, as suggested by the numbers '၁', '၂', '၃', '၄', '၅', '၆', '၇', '၈', '၉', '၁၀' interspersed throughout the lines. The characters are finely etched into the surface of the leaf.

Handwritten text in Khmer script, likely a manuscript or historical document. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines across the page. The script is dense and characteristic of traditional Khmer writing. There are two prominent black circular marks on the page, one in the middle-left and one in the middle-right, which appear to be ink blots or intentional punctuations. The text is written on aged, slightly yellowed paper.
