Handwritten Burmese text on a palm leaf manuscript. The script is in a traditional style, likely from the 18th or 19th century. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines across the length of the leaf. Two circular holes are visible, used for threading a cord to bind multiple leaves together. The ink is dark, and the leaf shows signs of age and wear.

Handwritten text in Khmer script, likely a manuscript or ledger. The text is arranged in two columns, separated by a vertical line. The script is cursive and appears to be from a historical document. The left column contains several lines of text, including what looks like a list or inventory. The right column also contains text, possibly a continuation or a separate entry. The paper is aged and shows some wear and discoloration.
